Wednesday, December 1, 2021

This is a non-travel activity

Are you selling your cheese products in Singapore? Would you like to increase the visibility of your product among media and other influencers in Singapore?

This is a great opportunity to help expand the awareness and demand for your product in the changing Singapore market in spite of travel restrictions and distance. WUSATA will arrange an educational event to increase awareness of the quality cheeses from the Western U.S. and how to serve them. Key media and influencers will be invited to the event in Singapore. To participate, Western U.S. companies will need to provide information and product samples for the event. Please note, companies must already have products in the market to be a part of this mission.

Singapore is recognized not only as a great market with sophisticated consumers, but also a strategic market in the region. Having a strong presence in the Singapore market helps position your product for entry into other countries in the region.
