EVENT DETAILS

COVID-19 has had a major impact on the economy and consumer behavior in China and Hong Kong. With each market still recovering at different pace, it may be difficult for exporters to accurately gauge the current business environment for importing U.S. products. In order to provide on-the-ground insight and knowledge into the changes in these markets, a webinar will be hosted for WUSATA and companies to review China and Hong Kong's post-COVID changes as a way to better understand the opportunities and challenges with exporting to the markets.
